

Brand guide & design assets

The stories, faith and generosity
we carry into the next generation.

October 6, 2026

Current product assets, earlier identity references and the next design brief, clearly separated.

A story worth passing down.

The gift is the person:
their voice, their character,
and what they hope you carry.

Time Tapestry helps people pass on stories, faith and everyday acts of generosity. Keep the person and the relationship at the center of every design.

Name: Time Tapestry
Tagline: Stories woven together.
Website: timetapestry.app

The two lowercase t's suggest a stitch and two generations joining hands. Preserve their connection and proportions.

Warm and personal

Use names, ordinary words and real moments. Leave room for the story to breathe.

Clearly Christian

Faith is welcome and explicit. Faith questions remain optional; never make someone prove belief.

A living legacy

Invite connection now. Avoid grief pressure, countdowns and assumptions that someone has died.

Faithful to the person

Preserve meaning and context. Do not invent memories, dialogue or spiritual conclusions.

Use the artwork. Keep the stitch.

The current product set includes a horizontal signature, the two-t mark, and a stacked wordmark. Each is supplied as SVG and transparent PNG in ink and white.

Keep the original geometry

Import the SVG. Do not retype the name, stretch the mark, add outlines, attach a new symbol or repeat the monogram as a pattern. Preserve aspect ratio.

Suggested handoff rule: leave at least half the symbol height clear around the signature. Start at 180px wide on screen or 35mm in print, then inspect at actual size. These are recommendations, not historic specifications.

Earlier v39 signature is separate

The vertical v39 signature includes the tagline. It uses different geometry and palette values from the current app. Both sets are included and labeled. Do not call them identical masters or add a second tagline below the v39 signature.

The current horizontal signature has no embedded tagline.

Color has a job.

These values document the current product. Keep light surfaces dominant and use dark ink for clear reading. A brighter postcard direction is still a design task, not a newly approved palette.

Ink
#432E23
Text, logo, primary actions

Paper
#FBFAF8
Main reading canvas

White
#FFFFFF
Writing and specimen areas

Taupe
#756454

Sage

Supporting decorative color

Clay

Supporting decorative color

Keep accents quiet

Use sage and clay for supporting visual areas, not small text on white. Avoid turning every panel brown. Do not introduce a pink-and-green postcard treatment.

Retain readable contrast over patterns and gradients. Check text against the lightest and darkest parts of its actual background.

Earlier v39 palette, reference only
Espresso	#3B2A21	Dark identity ink
Walnut	#6A5747	Secondary brown
Moss	#868973	Supporting accent
Peach	#B98B74	Supporting accent
White	#FFFFFF	Light surface

All supplied palette values are RGB/HEX. They are not approved CMYK or Pantone equivalents. Confirm the printer's profile and proof color before production.

Familiar, rounded, easy to read.

DISPLAY / QUICKSAND

BODY / INTER

Your story matters.

Headings: Quicksand 500, 600 and 700.
Current app heading default: 600.

Take your time. We're listening.

Use Inter for instructions, labels and longer interface copy. It is the current app body font. Keep the message understandable on the first read.

Comfortable size

Current forms use at least 16px. Start essential instructions around 18px for older readers, with generous line spacing. Respect browser text enlargement.

Font files included

Quicksand TTF and web font, static Quicksand 500 for print, and Inter variable TTF. Each comes with its license. Keep notices with redistributed fonts.

Separate secondary fonts

Manrope belongs to the earlier kit. Noto Sans CJK supports book language coverage. Neither should silently replace Inter in current interface designs.

The supplied logo lettering is outlined artwork with custom letter details. Installing Quicksand does not make a typed replacement logo equivalent.

A thread connects the system.

Complete interlocking pattern

Editable v39 SVG and raster derivative. Use the full composition when a complete pattern is called for. Preserve the artwork's aspect ratio and connection.

Let the words lead

Place texture behind large, simple brand areas. Keep questions, instructions, QR codes and postal information on clean surfaces. Use quiet opacity and test actual-size readability.

Flowing thread artwork

Editable v39 SVG and current print derivatives. This broader composition is used in the current postcard implementation. It is a separate treatment from the complete repeat.

Documented version difference

The earlier full-repeat direction uses 22% opacity over taupe-to-sage. The current renderer uses flowing art at 32% over espresso-to-taupe. Neither resolves the request for four distinct fronts. The designer should reconcile this deliberately.

Do not make a new pattern by repeating the two-t logo. Do not stretch, redraw or add imitation stitching to the supplied pattern masters.

Four chapters. One coherent gift.

Current implementation

One shared front and four different backs. The full set is supplied as paired previews, eight individual PNGs, editable HTML and a four-page PDF.

Sample names are fictional. Sample QR codes are inactive. These files are for design review.

Chapter	Scheduled send	Design role
1 · Kindness received	Day 0	Introduce the gift and the kindness that shaped a life.
2 · A life of faith	Day 14	Make space for lived faith and meaningful choices.
3 · What you sowed	Day 28	Honor generosity, time and care given to others.
4 · What I hope you carry	Day 42	Bring the gift forward with personal encouragement.

Next design brief: four distinct but related fronts, brighter and less brown, a complete softer pattern, consistent logo treatment and no pink-and-green pairing. Keep the personal-note back clear. Dates are scheduled sending intervals, not guaranteed arrival dates.

Design for the mailbox.

The old 6 × 4 inch examples are not part of the current print format.

Layout diagram only. Use the supplied source and the current provider template for production.

Protect the private story

Only public encouragement and approved names belong on the postcard. Private story text, account email, access tokens and sensitive details do not.

Preserve QR function

Production generates a unique collection-and-chapter destination. Keep the code square with its quiet zone, strong contrast and no logo overlay. Never reuse the sample code.

Leave space for addressing

The lower-right region is reserved for provider-added postal content. Verify text fit, bleed and a physical scan before print release. Do not treat the review PDF as press certification.

Motion should feel like connection.

Stories woven together.

Production closer

film-closer-v2.mp4

1920 × 1080 · 30 fps · 4 seconds · silent

This is the closer currently supplied to the film worker. The finished MP4 is included; matching editable production source is not verified. Editable source is supplied for the joining-hands study below.

Joining-hands study

v3 MP4 preview plus editable v4 source.

v4 is 6.5 seconds at 60 fps. The two t's approach, connect and settle into the identity. This remains a review study, not the deployed closer.

Keep the person's voice

Family films use the storyteller's recorded voice or video. Never replace it with synthetic narration or make a narrator introduce itself as AI.

Give every story context

For added stories, open with the prompt question, preserve the source's meaning in the edit, and finish with the logo. Use calm pacing and readable chapter titles.

Audio-only is still personal

Use the branded orb or thread treatment with recorded audio. Do not invent family photos. Music must support speech and must not be assumed approved or supplied.

Make the next step obvious.

Could a grandparent understand what to do next without help?

Use one clear primary action, familiar language and a short explanation only where it helps someone decide. Keep progress and saving status visible without technical warnings everywhere.

EXAMPLE LANGUAGE

Welcome back.

Part 2 of 4

Continue recording

Show the truth

Only say a recording is backed up after confirmation. Show actual upload progress. Do not invent an estimated time, listening waveform or finished state.

Make reading comfortable

Keep controls at least 44px, with 52px targets for touch in the current app. Maintain visible keyboard focus, strong contrast, readable forms and reduced-motion alternatives.

Use the right words

Say "guided conversation," "your story," "Next part" and "Continue recording." Avoid "AI interviewer," "story area," technical storage jargon and long blocks of instructions.

Product sequence: finish the original four-part gift first. Later, storytellers can record more memories and family members can request up to three prompts from 100 questions across Character, Health, Relationships, Finances, Happiness, Meaning and Faith. Keep the private catalog searchable and organized.

A clear handoff for the next designer.

01 / Logos	Current product SVG + PNG, separately labeled v39 variants.
02 / Fonts	Quicksand, Inter and licenses; historical and fallback fonts labeled.
03 / Patterns	Editable thread artwork and current raster derivatives.
04 / Postcards	All four front/back proofs, individual artwork and earlier repeat reference.
05 / Motion	Production closer, joining-hands preview and editable source.
06 / Source	Relevant implementation files, identity provenance and token references.

SVG imports into Illustrator and Figma. Native .ai or .fig files are not included. The HTML brand guide is editable.

Identity authority: supplied artwork and current app commit 079cb6a. Document organization informed by Fonts In Use and Forner via Refero; no external artwork, fonts or colors copied into the identity. See 00-Start-here for provenance and decisions.

Priorities for the design pass

1. Reconcile the current horizontal logo and earlier vertical identity before standardizing the system.
2. Develop four distinct postcard fronts within one family, with the requested brighter, quieter complete pattern.
3. Keep the QR, postal area and private/public content separation intact.
4. Refine the joining-hands motion without changing the finishing mark or replacing the production closer without review.
5. Return editable sources, labeled exports and a review PDF. Save new versions without overwriting earlier approved work.

Do not publish promises of guaranteed delivery dates, permanent hosting, flawless editing or a combined video export. Visual documentation does not establish live operational readiness.
